

|                                                                                                                                                                                                             |    |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| ‘Yiddish is Dead...!’; Yiddish; And Our Blood Always Flows With God; Resurrection of the Dead; ‘Our Hands Did Not Shed This Blood’ – ANS.....                                                               | 1  |
| Jewish Philosophy and Tradition: Ecclesiastes and Job – Y. Richtiger.....                                                                                                                                   | 6  |
| The Glass (poem) – Sh. Halkin.....                                                                                                                                                                          | 12 |
| You (poem) – Shmuel White.....                                                                                                                                                                              | 13 |
| When Is a Friend a Friend? (poem) – Ellen Vinograd.....                                                                                                                                                     | 13 |
| The Brooch (short story) – J. Beach.....                                                                                                                                                                    | 14 |
| On Whitechapel Street; Autumn (poems and ballad) – A.N. Stencl.....                                                                                                                                         | 20 |
| The Happy Man (short story) – W. Somerset Maugham.....                                                                                                                                                      | 24 |
| Reminiscences About Maurice Schwartz – Sh. Y. Dorfzon.....                                                                                                                                                  | 29 |
| The Voice of the People, of All the Non-Jewish People (end of editorial).....                                                                                                                               | 32 |
| A ‘Let it Arise’ for English, French and Spanish – But Not for Yiddish! (an open letter to the organisers of the international conference, to create a world union for Jewish journalists) – Sh. Y. Dorfzon |    |
| Yiddish Literary Saturday afternoons.....                                                                                                                                                                   | 32 |